“ I remember when (then Major Brewer) arrived at Rhein-Main and took over as the passenger service officer replacing outgoing Major Chuck Ulmer. It was not only a smooth transition from one fine officer to another but if my memory serves me correctly he took over about the time all DC10 passenger aircraft were grounded in the U.S. and prohibited from coming into the U.S. because of the American Airlines disaster at Chicago's O'hare airport. World Airways was a prime contractor using that air frame and was unable to fulfill their obligation because of this. MAC scheduled C-141's to replace the DC10's as much as possible and the passenger service folks were burdened with keeping up with all of the hubbub of 4 to 5 C-141's instead of one DC-10. He and the passenger service as well as the entire aerial port stepped up to the plate to meet that challenge. It was a TON of extra work but it did not phase his ability to rally the troops and get the job done. My wife and I left Rhein-Main in the fall of 1980 and our paths did not cross until we joined the reunion group in 2007. We saw he and Jean in San Antonio in 2008 and again in Branson in 2012. Our last visit was Atlanta in 2017. Linda and I will certainly miss this very fine officer and friend.

“ One of our country’s’ great leaders has moved to a better place. Major (now Colonel) Don Brewer was my boss when we ran the air transportation operation at Rhein Main FRG. When we took over, he was new, I was there TDY (temporary duty to civilians) ha. We had a mess, Ramsteins’ runway was closed, so myself and all of my band of characters moved to augment RMs’band of characters. What a mess, I would have been crazier had it not been for Major Brewer, what an outstanding USAF Officer. We pulled it together and insured this crew merged as an effective force. Don caught it from all direction, his senior leadership, the vast amount of diverse Airmen, as well as, from me. That is why his steady hand carried us forward successfully. I could speak volume of accolades into infinity, but all who know this fine Senior Officer understands. May God rest his hands on Don eternally, the family will miss him, his friends will miss him and I will certainly miss him, as he was like the brother I never had. I love you man..Rest In Peace my very special brother. Marion L “red” Froshour, Chief Master Sergeant, USAF (ret). Centerville, Georgia 478 397 9575

“ Col Brewer is one of the finest officers I met during nearly 40 years of military and civil service, and inspired so much trust and loyalty in his troops that I would gladly have gone to war with him. The reason he was such a good leader is that he was such a good man. In a crisis he was calm, and in good times he could be counted on for a good laugh. I’m so grateful that he tracked me down in 2001 and invited me to be a part of the 435 APS reunion group, giving me the opportunity to remain in close contact with him for the next 18 years.
