“ Mark, where do I begin? It all started with that black camaro! The one you told everyone was only a v-6 (ha ha). From there on we were always close. Even after you moved to Alabama, every time you would come home I would always ask you to move back because I missed you. I will miss how you would always just show up every time you would come back for a visit, it was such a surprise and a breath of fresh air. I loved it when you would send me pics and videos of cars and engines that you built. You will always be one of my best friends. I will always miss and love you. Rest in peace my friend.
